CHURCH HEIGHTS

An exemplar of landscape, location and luxury...

Church Heights marks the arrival of one of the most exciting and exclusive new developments in the area with only three luxurious, three-storey detached houses within a private and gated setting. The development is located on Church Road, a mile from the town centre and in an area synonymous with some of the most stunning properties in Hollywood.

The elevated nature of the site gives a sense of space and light, while specific sites reveal glorious views of Belfast Lough and the Co. Antrim Coastline on the opposing shore.

Brought to the market by Chieftan Homes and Jamdac Developments, Church Heights offers luxurious and unique homes for the discerning buyer in one of Northern Ireland's most sought-after addresses.

A STUNNING LOCATION

Lifestyle, aspiration and convenience

Hollywood, Co Down has long been considered one of the province's most desirable places to live, unique within a rich heritage that blends seamlessly into a modern and vibrant landscape.

Located on the affluent Cultra coastline, where the Irish Sea rolls into Belfast Lough, residents enjoy an area that offers just about everything regarding lifestyle, aspiration and convenience. At its heart, Hollywood alludes to an authentic old world charm, with the presence of The Royal North of Ireland Yacht Club, and Royal Belfast and Hollywood Golf Clubs playing a significant part in local society. Equally, arts, culture and fashion are in abundance and feature within an eclectic high street of coffee houses, design studios, art galleries and boutiques.

Completing this ultimate living experience is the development's proximity to the centre of Hollywood and the extensive variety of amenities, social venues and activities that are available there.

Although Church Heights avails of a semi-rural location, it is just over a mile from Hollywood High Street, providing easy access to the sophisticated metropolitan bustle of the town. Unwind in the boutiques, coffee houses, delis and bistros, and get active in gymnasiums or the year-round splendour of Redburn Country Park.

The essential everyday requirements are also to hand, with popular grocery stores such as Tesco Express a few minutes drive, as are an excellent range of schools for children from nursery through to grammar school. Residents can also avail of impeccable commuter links, with direct access to Belfast City Centre, which is six miles away and connected by bus and rail, as well as by road. For those travelling further afield, the George Best City Airport is only a five minute drive.

CHURCH HEIGHTS

Modern design and old world charm...

Church Heights epitomises both quality and style while delivering comfortable and spacious homes. Each home, with their private garden, garage and courtyard, is accessed from a private driveway edged with stunning estate fencing, pathways and attractive landscaping.

The external architecture is defined by an expert approach to classical Georgian style, with an impressive front facade featuring imposing bay windows and centred by a heritage style entrance complete with fanlight features.

Each home is built with a traditional red fired brick accompanied by buff sandstone detail, black sash-style windows and a slate roof that embodies a quintessentially upmarket image, with a modern and contemporary appeal.
