Description

The subject property comprises a five storey, period building of traditional red brick construction.

The ground floor currently accommodates restaurant occupiers while the upper floors are undergoing refurbishment to provide c. 19,143 sq. ft. of office accommodation, arranged over first to fourth floor levels.

The building benefits from two entrance points on Great Victoria Street and Bruce Street, both of which are serviced by way of a passenger lift.

Internally, the following period features have been retained:

- Exposed red brickwork
- Varnished timber joist flooring
- Steel beams

In addition, WC's are provided on each floor level.

Four dedicated car park spaces are provided at the Bruce Street elevation of the building.
