Ellandi is the UK's leading specialist shopping centre investor focusing on community shopping centres throughout the UK.

Ellandi was formed in early 2008, in anticipation of the market correction and conceived around the principle of bringing together the real estate finance expertise of Morgan Garfield and the retail property experience of Mark Robinson.

Our relentless strategic focus since formation has been the Community Shopping Centre Sector.

By applying financial and intellectual capital to often-under invested locations we are able to reposition our investments at the heart of their communities.

But for our wider towns to thrive, they need to be more than about just retail.

We have assembled a team of outstanding asset managers and marketeers, who not only have outstanding retailer contacts and expertise, but are also recognised as market leaders in engaging with local stakeholders and incubating complementary ancillary uses, to ensure that the towns in which we operate thrive.
